Stanley County, SD 38 Acres Fort Pierre, SD / Stanley County

PROPERTY DESCRIPTION

Located along the legendary Bad River corridor, this ±38-acre hunting property in Stanley County, South Dakota, is the definition of a hidden gem for the serious sportsman. Situated on Bad River Road just 16 miles southwest of Fort Pierre and 17 miles southwest of Pierre, this tract offers the perfect combination of seclusion, wildlife habitat, and easy access, making it an ideal getaway for weekend hunts or a long-term hunting investment.

This property has been thoughtfully shaped into a true hunting oasis with proven features already in place, while still leaving plenty of room to improve and customize. The land borders the Bad River, creating an unmatched natural travel route and staging area for wildlife movement. Numerous deer trails weave throughout the property, showing consistent whitetail activity and making stand placement and hunting strategy straightforward.

Whitetail deer are the star of the show here, with trophy-class potential in an area known for producing mature bucks. Turkey hunting is excellent, and it's not uncommon to see trophy-class elk wandering through the area as well, adding an exciting bonus opportunity for the outdoor enthusiast.

Two Bank's blinds are included, along with a man-made waterhole designed to naturally draw and hold animals. Multiple food plots have been established to enhance attraction and keep deer on the property longer, providing a strong foundation for managing this tract into an even better hunting destination.

With great access, river frontage, and a proven setup, this property is ready for the next owner to take it to the next level.
