PROPERTY DESCRIPTION

Looking for your next fixer-upper or investment opportunity? Own a piece of Mitchell history with this 1907, 2.5-story Victorian home at 512 W Frank Street! This property is ready for someone with vision to continue the work, complete the unfinished interior, and bring this historic home back to life.

With 2.5 stories plus a basement, the home offers an impressive amount of space and a versatile layout with plenty of possibilities. The interior is not completely finished and will require additional renovation and finishing work, making this property especially well suited for an investor, renovator, or buyer searching for a project they can customize from the ground up. Whether the goal is restoration, renovation, resale, or creating a spacious home to enjoy, this property provides an exciting starting point.

The home retains the character and charm associated with its early-1900s construction, including hardwood flooring and Victorian-era details. A mudroom adds useful everyday space, while the basement provides additional space beyond the main living areas. A detached garage offers even more room for parking, tools, equipment, storage, or workshop use.

This is not a completely finished, move-in-ready home—it is an opportunity to take a historic property with substantial space and transform it into something special. Investors, renovators, and buyers who appreciate the character of older homes will find plenty of potential within these walls.

Conveniently located in Mitchell near local amenities, 512 W Frank Street is ready for its next chapter. Bring your plans, creativity, and vision and see what this 2.5-story Victorian fixer-upper could become! Seller to choose title company
