Honey Creek-49 Acres

Terre Haute, IN / Vigo County

PROPERTY DESCRIPTION

Rare 49-acre recreational and agricultural sanctuary in Vigo County, Indiana! Situated along McDaniel Road in the highly desirable Terre Haute area, this expansive acreage offers an unmatched opportunity for outdoorsmen, avid hunters, cattlemen, conservationists, and nature lovers seeking a serene getaway. If you have been searching for a sprawling piece of Hoosier land that combines pristine natural beauty, abundant wildlife, and tranquil isolation, this property is a true must-see.

The centerpiece of this remarkable tract is the iconic Honey Creek, which winds gracefully directly through the landscape. This picturesque stream not only enhances the peaceful ambiance and visual beauty of the land, but it also serves as a vital year-round water source. While virtually the entire property lies within a flood plain, this natural water flow supports a thriving ecosystem-making it an absolute haven for white-tailed deer, wild turkey, and various small game, as well as an exceptional setting for cattle pasture.

Adding to the land's unique character and overall functionality, a railroad track traverses right through the middle of the acreage, naturally dividing the parcel into two nearly equal-sized sections. This layout offers incredible flexibility, allowing you to keep one side dedicated strictly as an undisturbed wildlife sanctuary or bedding area while utilizing the other side for your active base camp, cattle grazing, ATV trails, or target practice.

Whether you want to hunt trophy bucks, run livestock, pitch a tent along the scenic creek banks, or simply escape city life to enjoy the quiet outdoors, this land accommodates it all. Located just minutes from SR 641, US-41, and I-70, you get complete privacy without sacrificing quick access to local shopping, dining, and town conveniences.
