MORE ABOUT THE ST. FRANCIS 10.45

Cleared trails provide convenient access throughout the property and lead to multiple deer stands that will remain for the new owner. A comfortable box blind near the campsite features two large shooting lanes—one on each side—making it especially easy to access and hunt. Additional stands overlook drainage points and known deer travel routes, while others are surrounded by mature oak trees that provide a natural food source for wildlife. With several established setups, this property offers multiple ways to hunt.

Mature oaks and fruit-bearing trees help attract deer and enhance the property's wildlife habitat. The tract also has a history of producing quality bucks. Although compact in size, it is surrounded by expansive hardwood habitat, allowing it to benefit from the cover, food sources, and wildlife movement of the surrounding area.

Located approximately 50 miles from Memphis, Tennessee, and about 65 miles from Jonesboro, Arkansas, the St. Francis 10.45 is well-suited for a first-time landowner, a weekend hunter, or anyone seeking an affordable and conveniently located hunting retreat.
